Company Information

Our company was established in 2015, and C&V Tech aims to develop medical devices that help people around the world enjoy a health and valuable technology.

To this end, the government is actively participating in research and development by securing its own technology development capability mechatronics sectors as well as establishing an organic cooperation system with hospitals, schools, and industries with specialized tech. In the R&D field, the world's only non-contact self-measurement portable tonometer has been developed for about 100 million glaucoma patients. We have developed an intraocular pressure drug eye monitoring system for intraocular pressure patients and is distributed domestically and abroad. We are collaborating with pharmaceutical companies specializing in glaucoma. In the long run, it plans to expand to the development of a system for vision management.
